Dear Cori,

I'm writing on behalf of The City Mission to acknowledge the recent donation of approximately 1,500 lbs. of new and used clothing items from Planet Aid. These items included coats, blankets, socks, undergarments and other items.

I'm sure you can imagine how useful these items will be at this time of the year, what with the frigid temperatures we've been experiencing recently. Right now, we have more than 250 men, women and children staying with us who would otherwise be homeless and exposed to great risk. But thanks to community partners like Planet Aid, we have the means and resources to provide food, clothing, shelter, access to hygiene and transformational programming to these dear people.

We deeply appreciate your efforts that generate not only needed resources but significant brand awareness for The City Mission. Thanks for coming beside us as a treasured community partner.

Sincerely,
